Town Will Defray Expense of Working in Neighboring Counties.

Midland, Dec. 8.—For the first time in the history of good roads building one county is going outside its own confines and building good roads in adjoining counties. Midland county next week will begin the construction of sample stretches of several miles of first-class roads in Andrews and Gaines counties.

The Midland people have secured the services of a good roads engineer of the United States government, who will be in Midland next Monday. He will immediately take a large force of workmen and all the necessary machinery to Gaines and Andrews counties and begin the work.

The county commissioners of these two counties will be on hand and select locations for the model roads. The entire cost of the work is to be paid by the city of Midland.—Ft. Worth Record.
